To the People of Maine:

The Passamaquoddy Sipayik Reservation is proud to support Senator Susan Collins in her 2026 re-election campaign. During the past 30 years, Susan has worked tirelessly to improve the economy of both the Passamaquoddy Tribe and community of Washington County.

Just last year we met with Susan and shared that our community faces an imminent risk with our wastewater treatment plant. Specifically, the current location of our operating system is at risk of failing due to the increasing height of storm surges, shore erosion and rising tide levels from the ocean. Failure of the system would cause significant adverse impacts to the surrounding tribal elder apartment complex, homes, businesses, the marine environment, and the community at large. Understanding our need, and the risk that the current system poses to our community, Susan stepped up and secured $5 million in federal funds to support our efforts to construct a new wastewater treatment plant and collection system – a vital and critical piece of community infrastructure. Her ability to deliver has really made a difference in our community and we are so grateful.

We remain confident that the Eastern Maine economy will continue to grow with Susan Collins in the United States Senate.

Sincerely,

Amkuwiposohehs Bassett
